

New Authority Parenting is pleased to announce a two day training course in NVR.

Non-Violent Resistance:
An integrated, structured and systemic response to child to parent violence and abuse.

Tuesday May 16th 2017 (9.30am – 5pm)
&
Wednesday May 17th 2017 (9.30am – 5pm)

This training will be of relevance to child and family welfare practitioners (Social Work, Social Care, Psychology, EWO etc.) and anyone whose work involves supporting children and parents. The aim of the training is to build practitioner's skills and confidence in identifying and responding effectively to the growing concerns about child to parent violence, abuse and aggression.

The training is provided by Tara Kelly and Catrina Scanlan of New Authority Parenting. Both are practitioners, supervisors and trainers in the NVR programme. They each bring this new and innovative programme – combined with extensive experience with children and families – to their training days. (For detailed Bio's, see <http://newauthorityparenting.ie>)

Venue:	The Plaza Hotel, Tallaght	http://www.plazahotel.ie/
Cost:	€225 to include lunch, tea and coffee on both days.
Further enquiries:	Tara Kelly	(tara@newauthorityparenting.ie)
	Catrina Scanlan	(catrina@newauthorityparenting.ie)

For further information on CPVA and the NVR programme in Ireland and Europe see the following websites.

<http://cpvireland.ie>

<http://rcpv.eu>